- All season motorcycle outfit offers maximum safety and comfort thanks to the use of high-quality textiles and modern technologies
- High-performance membrane from Dryway+ ensures breathability, ventilation and is 100% waterproof
- Tailor-made: individually adjustable for torso, arms, and legs

(Mustasaari, Finland, June 11th, 2021) The new motorcycle suit Sunne from Lindstrands was developed for use under the toughest conditions. On long journeys in wind and rain and off road, the Sunne jacket and pants show its full potential. Extremely resistant, multifunctional, breathable, wind and waterproof these are the core attributes that distinguish the 2-layer laminated combination. To understand why this robust and protective motorcycle clothing can still be worn comfortably in the summer, we advise looking at the six different layers. The high-performance, breathable membrane Dryway+ ensures excellent ventilation as well as moisture and temperature exchange. If you need even more cooling, you can open one of the many direct air vents on your jacket and trousers or use the “Open Back Concept”, which quickly releases excessive heat but keeps wind and water out. In contrast, the removable Innoborne® thermal inner lining insulates against cold temperatures in winter. Thanks to various, individual adjustment options in height, width, and length in the torso and sleeves, the Sunne motorcycle jacket fits like its tailor-made. The Sunne jacket and pants can be connected to form a completely waterproof outfit with a zipper. HI-ART stands for maximum safety and protection against abrasion in both outfit elements. The special fabric developed at the in-house design center provides up to 500% higher protection against abrasion than comparable textile clothing without HI-ART. Of course, like all Lindstrands products, Sunne is CE-compliant and also bears the coveted AA certification in accordance with the latest EU safety standard EN 17092. Sunne is available in the colour combinations black/orange and brown/yellow. The reflective applications, which guarantee good visibility even in the dark, are remarkable. The Sunne motorcycle jacket is available from selected specialist retailers at a price of £469 and the matching trousers at £299
